A Little Knowledge, Someone Said, Is a Dangerous Thing

It had to happen, of course. With all this talk about spies in the government and Communist propaganda plaguing the people, one strong-minded American housewife personally examined 100 textbooks and reached an astonishing conclusion on how to "protect" our public schools.

She is Mrs. Thomas J. White of Indianapolis, and her opinions would be of no more importance than her qualifications as a student of government and history except that she currently holds appointment as a Republican member of the Indiana Textbook Commission. Without that appointment she would have remained a happily unknown, but with it she has managed to make a spectacle of herself before the civilized world.

Mrs. White would strike out of textbooks all mention of Robin Hood, the legendary English out-law, and all reference to the Quakers — declaring that "they tend to support Communism."

Says the lady from Indiana: "There is a Communist directive in education now to stress the story of Robin Hood. They want to stress it because he robbed the rich and gave it to the poor. That's the Communist line. It's just a smearing of law and order and anything that disrupts law and order is their meat."

"Quakers don't believe in fighting wars. All the men they can get to believe that they don't need to go to war, the better off the Communist are. It's the same as their crusade for peace — everybody lay down their arms and they'll take over."

The sad fact is that Mrs. White has been a-sittin' in her porch eekin' and a-thinkin' and a-rockin' — until she's rocked herself clean off the porch.

Reading what's in 100 textbooks doesn't do a body like Mrs. White any good unless she knows and understands legend, history, and government. If she knew these she would have known why Robin Hood and the Quakers are fundamental reading matter in every school within the realm of the English language.

Sure, Robin Hood robbed the rich and helped the poor; but he lived in the Dark Ages of England when all the land was owned by a few, when common men had to beg the nobility for a bare existence — and so the exploits of Robin Hood automatically made him a champion of human life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

It's stamped thusto on the minds of all Englishmen and all Americans. The stamp is on our minds to you. You recognize it, every time you look at the horse opera in the Saturday-night picture show — how the harried homesteaders stood up to the cattle kings and cracked their monopoly of land and water.

The Robin Hood legend is ours for always, no matter how the Russian propagandists try to trade in the same coin. If the Soviet suddenly endorsed our Declaration of Independence you wouldn't quit printing it in American schoolbooks.

We're running this country, writing its history, cherishing its legends, for ourselves — but if we look poor Mrs. White's advice we'd be letting the Russians run it for us... which is what she was presumably aiming to avoid.

As for the Quakers, everyone knows their story — how they stood up against persecution in Europe and England in the name of free worship, and finally helped build America. It is not factually true that the Quakers don't believe in war. Their religion teaches that it is wrong to kill. So they go into the armed services in a thousand capacities other than shooting a gun. But I am mortally certain if the Quakers ever revoke their rule against guns it will be something that the Russians tempted them into.

Tito's Offer to Give Up Trieste Is Speculation

By STAN SWINTON
ROME (AP) — A new offer by Yugoslav President Tito to give Italy the port city of Trieste raised diplomatic speculations here that a five-power conference on the disputed Adriatic territory is imminent.

These circles also felt Italy and Yugoslavia now were agreed on a number of major points relative to the 285 square miles of territory inhabited by 375,000 persons which each nation has claimed in the past.

Speaking in Belgrade yesterday, Tito dramatically waived his nation's claims to the port city and conceded Italy should have it. But he repeated his demand for the rest of Zone A, the territory of farms and vineyards around the city. The city's 300,000 population is largely Italian, the rest of the zone's 25,000 settlers are mostly of Yugoslav-Slovene origin.

Tito also warned that any further Italian expansion at Yugoslav expense would result in a "continued on Page Two"

Instructions Must Be Carried Out by Farmers If the Pink Bollworm Is Stamped Out

By DON CHWIND
TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The military court trying ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh for treason got down to main issues today after ruling against the old man's contention that the tribunal was not competent to hear the case.

The court-martial's five judges declared themselves competent yesterday after a week of preliminary hearings, during which the 73-year-old Mossadegh held the floor for many hours with bitter, emotional arguments in his own defense.

Following the court decision, Chief Prosecutor Brig. Hossein Azemzadeh read the indictment charging Mossadegh with plotting against the Shah and illegally dissolving the lower house of Parliament. The death penalty was asked.

Presentation of evidence in support of the charges are due to begin later today.

The bullet struck the youth just above the knee and embedded under the knee cap, requiring some three hours to remove it. He was reported to be doing fine today.

Young Thompson, along with two other youths, Rhdrehard Cook and John Keck, were out target shooting. He was loading the clip and a shell in the barrel went off striking him in the leg.

The other boys rushed him to a local hospital.

Believes Good Old-Fashioned Back Yard to Play in Would Be Best Christmas Present

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — If you were Santa Claus and could give every child in America one present, what would it be?

My choice would be — a big, old-fashioned back yard for the child to grow up in. Do you remember the fun you had in one when young? If you have no such memories, then life short-changed you. You missed some wonderful times.

The juvenile delinquent is a real problem kid today. Nearly every one of us normal adult delinquents is sure he is an authority on what is wrong with the modern child rebel — which probably only proves what smug, crazy, mixed up, middle-aged children we ourselves are.

14 Klansmen Jailed for Flogging

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — FBI agents arrested 14 alleged former members of the Ku Klux Klan in the Carolinas today and charged them with kidnapping and flogging a brother and sister two years ago today.

Thirteen were brought here for arraignment today before a U. S. commissioner. Their arrival coincided with a federal grand jury session here.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who announced the arrests in Washington said they were "a continuation of intensive FBI investigation of flogging" in North Carolina and South Carolina "which already has resulted in 29 convictions on similar charges in the past year and a half."

In addition, 11 have been convicted or pleaded guilty in state courts in the same period to charges of conspiracy and assault that grew out of floggings.

Those taken into custody at their homes early this morning were formally charged with kidnapping, interstate transportation of the two victims and their flogging "in a planned raid."

Kidnap Slayers Seek Escape Through Insanity

By AL DOPKING
KANSAS CITY (AP) — The possibility was raised today that the money-hungry kidnap killers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenhouse would seek to escape the gas chamber through an insanity plea.

This surprise development came at the opening of their federal trial for the sole purpose of determining whether they should die for the crime they have fully confessed.

Both Carl Austin Hall, the 34-year-old playboy wastrel, and Mrs. Joanne Brown Hendy, 41, the housewife turned alcoholic, listened attentively as their attorneys reserved the right to bring up the insanity question at any time during the proceedings.

Their attorneys told the court they were not raising the question now but they wished to protect the constitutional rights of the two defendants and if evidence warranted, continued on Page Two filed. He told a parliamentary election rally "Yugoslavia will not go to war for Trieste" but Deputy Foreign Secretary Alan Bebbler later explained his chief meant just the port city, not all of Zone A.

Yugoslav control of the rest of zone A would isolate the port from Italy. Diplomats here believed, however, that Yugoslavia also would concede Italy should get a corridor linking her with the city. They anticipate sharp disagreement, however, on how wide this band should be.

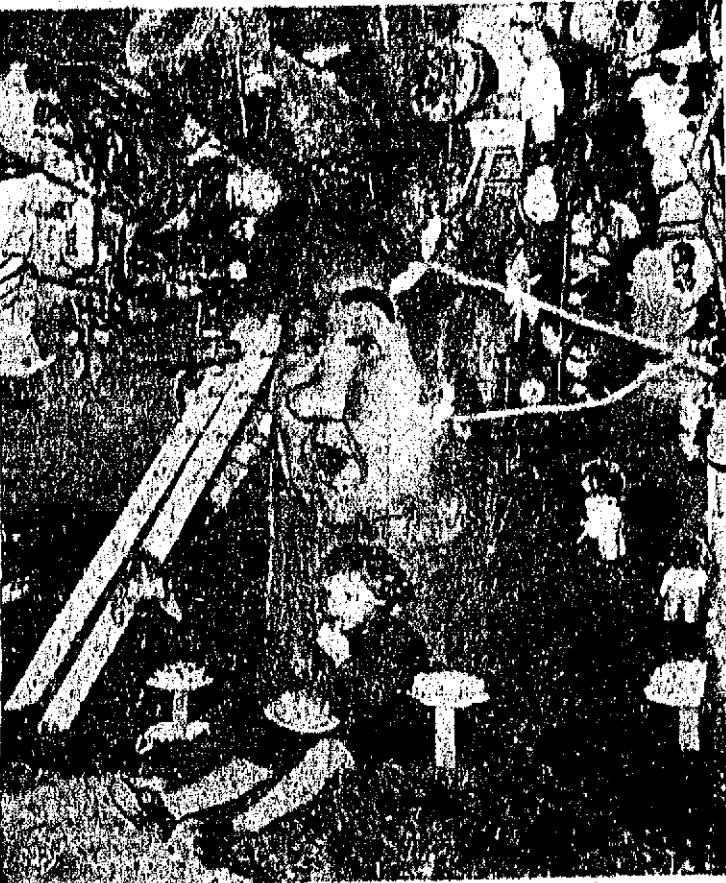

Tito's speech represented a moderation of Yugoslav policy. On Oct. 10 he had demanded the city be an autonomous, or self-governing unit under Italian sovereignty, with the rest of Zone A having similar status under Yugoslav sovereignty. He also had demanded internationalization of the city.

Diplomats here hinted that announcement of a five-power conference on Trieste was in the offing. At the conference, the United States, Britain, France, Yugoslavia and Italy would seek to limit the issues brought to a head by the British-American declaration Oct. 8 that they were withdrawing their occupation troops from Zone A, including the port, and turning the area over to Italy.

Tito's threats to march his own troops into Zone A—they already occupy zone B—if the Italians moved in has delayed the British-American withdrawal.

Prison Term Affirmed by High Court

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The Arkansas Supreme Court today affirmed a six-year prison sentence against Vanteen Dean Smith of Riverdale for the poison slaying of her first husband in two years ago.

The ruling upheld a Poinsett Circuit Court jury, which found Mrs. Smith guilty of second-degree murder.

The state charged that the woman, then Mrs. Dean administered arsenic to Harold Dean in a drink of whiskey on Nov. 12, 1951. Dean died several hours later.

Mrs. Dean, who operates a cafe at Riverdale, later married Clyde Smith.

Smith and Gene Mope were indicted along with Mrs. Smith after an investigation which was not opened until several months after Dean died. Neither Smith nor Mope has been tried.

The Supreme Court, in a unanimous opinion, rejected a defense contention that the evidence against Mrs. Smith was sufficient.

Instead, the Court said the evidence was sufficient to sustain a conviction of first-degree murder.

Mrs. Smith was tried on a first-degree charge, which carries the death penalty, but the jury reduced it to second-degree murder, and fixed her punishment.

The Supreme Court also found no merit in a defense contention that the trial judge should not have given an instruction which permitted the jury to find Mrs. Smith guilty of second-degree murder.

Such an instruction was to the defendant's benefit. And is not ground for reversal the Court said.

Jury Indicts Ex-Government Official

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Herbert A. Bergson, 44, a former assistant attorney general in the Truman administration was indicted today on charges of violating the "conflict of interest" law governing activities of attorneys who used to work for the government.

Bergson accompanied by two attorneys, was in the courtroom of U. S. District Judge Edward A. Tamm when the grand jury returned the two-count indictment.

Bergson waived formal readings of the charge and entered a immediate plea of innocent.

The charge is a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $10,000 fine.

The law Bergson is charged with violating forbids a governmental employee from representing private interests in any claim against the government with which he was employed within two years after leaving federal employ.

Immediately after the return of the indictment, Bergson issued a statement saying the indictment could not have been obtained "had the attorney general of the United States not been willing to degrade the high office with which he is entrusted in reckless disregard of his sworn duty."

This is Mrs. Felicia Littlejohn. She and her husband, Horace—who works for an electronics firm—have one child, six-month-old Susan.

How Mrs. Littlejohn's telephone helps her through busy days

Did you ever keep a record of all the telephone calls you made and received for a week?

Mrs. Littlejohn is one of a group of telephone customers we asked to keep a diary of all calls made and received for one week. She was genuinely surprised at how much she depended on her telephone service.

Here are some typical calls Mrs. Littlejohn recorded. Altogether, she made and received 58 local calls in the seven days, and she estimates that they covered a total of about 345 miles. The cost? Three miles for a penny, according to Mrs. Littlejohn.

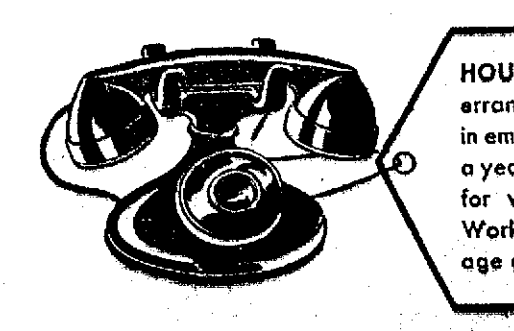

9:00 Called my next-door neighbor to see if she would watch Susan for a few minutes while I went to the store for milk.

1:00 Made dental appointment for Horace. He's too busy to call—and I'm more apt to remember date and time, 2 miles.

3:30 Dottie, a friend, called to thank me for the housewarming I gave for her Sunday. It turned out so well, 10 miles.

7:30 Horace's Dad cut himself trimming the hedge. Called to tell us he's back from the doctor's and O. K. 6 miles.

12:00 My husband's daily call which I always look forward to. I told him all was well at home, 12 miles.

1:30 Called cleaner's to see if our clothes were ready. I save trips this way—and to me that's important, 2 miles.

7:30 Horace's Dad cut himself trimming the hedge. Called to tell us he's back from the doctor's and O. K. 6 miles.

Would Cite Prof. Curry for Contempt

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 16 (UPI)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy says he will seek to have Prof. Wendell H. Curry of Harvard University cited for contempt during the next session of Congress.

The Communist-hunting Wisconsin Republican said here last night he would ask his investigating committee to cite the physicist for contempt and thus "remove a Communist menace from Harvard."

McCarthy left for New York today after addressing a gathering sponsored jointly by the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"Here is a professor whose case was called to the attention of the president of a once-great university," McCarthy said, mentioning that he got a copy of Curry's testimony before his committee to Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey "and the president, Pusey, says 'We won't get rid of him.'"

The GOP lawmaker continued, "McCarthy said he told Pusey that Curry 'is a man who is subverting and perverting the minds of American youth' and he asked the educator, 'What are you going to do about it?'"

The Wisconsin senator quoted Pusey as replying: "We, at Harvard, believe that freedom of thought prevents us from discharging a man under the fifth amendment."

Fury invoked the self-incrimination clause of the fifth amendment in refusing to answer the McCarthy committee's questions about his alleged affiliation with the Communist Party and suspected traffic in radar secrets.

Pusey was not immediately available for comment on McCarthy's latest remarks about the Curry case.

McCarthy also disclosed that his committee is drafting a bill to withhold tax exemption privileges from any charitable trust or foundation which donates money to colleges "with Communists or Communist sympathizers on the payroll."

Youth Kills Woman, Keeps Body 3 Days

PASCAGOULA, Miss., Nov. 16 (UPI)—A youth who told a story of killing a woman and carrying her body in the trunk of a car for three days lay in a hospital with an apparently self-inflicted bullet wound today.

Edward Joseph Berryman, 19, was found slumped over the body of Mrs. Pete Heasley, 23-year-old Pascagoula mother, Man here yesterday. After his sister rushed into police headquarters with the story, he had been shot under the heart.

Mrs. Heasley's husband is in Korea.

Deputy Sheriff E. E. Blakely said the Columbus, Ga., youth would be charged with murder.

At Columbus, Berryman's father said the boy escaped from a Georgia Prison camp three or four months ago.

The youth's sister, Anna Berryman, ran to police headquarters yesterday to give police this account:

Berryman told her he had killed a woman and put her body in the trunk of the car Wednesday. When the brother went to a rest room at Brewton, Ala., the sister opened the car trunk and found Mrs. Heasley's body.

Berryman then asked his sister to drive him to a spot near here where he said he killed the woman, and go tell police he had committed suicide.

She jumped out of the car and caught a ride to police headquarters.

Police found the woman's body on the back seat of the car with Berryman slumped over it. The police knew of no motive for the slaying.

general will have a chance to elaborate on his charges when he testifies tomorrow before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, which is investigating the White case.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) Some Democrats in Congress rattled behind former President Truman as he prepared to discuss the Harry Dexter White case tonight on radio and television.

Although there were some dissenters, the minority party seemed to be drawing closer in a development that could spell trouble for program in the next session of the Eisenhower administration's Congress.

Atty. Gen. Brownell has promised further disclosures beyond the White case in which he charged that Truman promoted White to be U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund after the FBI told Truman White was a spy.

Truman, who has said no such thing happened, reports to the nation tonight in a speech which, he has said, will "tell all the facts." He said in Independence, Mo., last night that Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI attended a conference at which White's fate was discussed. But Truman did not specify the time of the conference or say who else attended.

White was named to the monetary fund position early in 1940. He served for more than a year and then, by Truman's account, was fired by being allowed to resign. He died in 1948 a few days after testifying he was neither a Communist nor a spy.

Several newspapers have published stories from sources they did not name saying that White was kept on under an agreement with the FBI to prevent Communists from learning that he was under surveillance. Some of these accounts said the monetary fund positions were less sensitive than the one he held previously as assistant Treasury secretary.

WASHINGTON (AP) James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary said today Atty. Gen. Brownell's Nov. 6 speech on Harry Dexter White was not cleared in advance at the White House.

In the speeches Brownell said for mer president Truman promoted White, an assistant secretary of the Treasury in the Truman administration, after the FBI sent two reports to the White House saying, as Brownell put it, that White was a Russian spy.

At his news conference today, Hagerty was asked by Arthur Sylvester of the Newark (N.J.) News whether the White House cleared the Brownell speech before the attorney general made it in Chicago.

Browns, Lions Could Meet for Pro Title

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League standings had a double-look today, chiefly because of the Browns and Lions.

Cleveland's off-again Browns and Detroit Lions met for the NFL title last fall and it looks as if they are headed for another clash since they top their respective conferences.

There's little question but what the Browns will be in the playoff. They have won eight games and lead the Philadelphia Eagles by 2½ games in the Eastern Conference. Each has four to play.

But the Lions' hold on the top spot in the Western Conference isn't so secure. They hold a half-game margin over the second-place Los Angeles Rams and a full game over the third-place San Francisco 49ers.

Cleveland, with Green kicking three field goals, played an important role in its victory over the Cardinals in the final game of the season. The Browns' victory over the Cardinals was a 24-21. The Cardinals' loss was a 24-21.

At Chicago, Trippi completed eight passes, seven of them in a row, from a spread formation. The Cardinals' failure in the final game of the season was a 24-21.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't quite there yet for the annual polls, but we would like to jump the gun somewhat and enter in the quote-of-the-year section the statement of Art Ebers, the new general manager of the Baltimore Orioles, that Marty Marion had a "defiant attitude."

Ebers made his prize observation in the course of explaining why he was not retaining Marion as manager of the transplanted Orioles, but was, instead, awarding the job to his pal Jimmy Dykes. Marion had managed the team last season when it was called among other things the St. Louis Browns, and his contract, still and a year to run.

There is no intention here of going to bat for Marion. Marty was the greatest shortstop we ever saw, and there is no more likeable fellow in the game, but whether he is a good manager we have no way of knowing. Our only concern is with the expressed reason for sacking him.

Specifically, what sort of attitude did Ebers expect Marty to project after he had spent a year managing what is generally conceded to be the worst collection of players in modern big league history into the American League cellar?

Did he expect the string being to be honest with him, or was he looking for Marty to come in doing a buck-and-wing and yelling, "We'll get 'em next year, boss — all we had was a little hard luck."

Anyone who knows Marion at all knows he isn't the type. He'll level with you, and he apparently did with Ebers.

If displaying a "defiant attitude" means that Marion attempted to paint a rosy picture but instead of pointing the new owners that they had better get themselves some baseball players quick, then we submit that he both did credit to himself and extended a great favor to the Orioles.

Actually, though Ebers might not have received specific instructions, the new owners never did regard Marion as the type of manager they needed. It was common knowledge in baseball circles that they preferred to pay him off, so Marty must have known when he flew East that his chances of keeping the job were virtually nonexistent. It served no purpose to play the "defiant" tag on a fellow who was going to get it in the neck anyway.

It's The College of the Ozarks and Arkansas A&M thundering down the stretch of the AIC football race in a dead heat. But, neck and neck, in one will bet on though they're favored to stay how this upset-crazy title scramble will end.

The two leaders can keep the top spot a joint proposition by winning on final league game, apiece. One of them can grab an undisputed crown by winning while the other loses.

Should both lose, however, a three or four-team knot will result. Here are the games that will decide it along with the records of all teams still having mathematical chances for a share of the championship:

Ozarks (9-1) vs Arkansas Tech at Russellville Saturday.

A&M (9-1) vs Southern State (2-2) at Magnolia Thanksgiving.

State Teachers (2-2) vs Henderson at Arkadelphia Thanksgiving.

The Mountaineers of Ozarks, the pre-season choice for the cellar, no better — can clinch no worse than a title tie with A&M in the Tech affair this week but will just have to wait until Turkey Day to see if they got company.

The Mountaineers appeared to be falling by the wayside last Saturday night as they spotted State Teachers a 13-0 lead in the first quarter and showed no promise of overcoming it in the second period.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By Joe Stelson
I judged a beagle bench match the other day and to say that it was a very gratifying experience is putting it mildly. For the attitude was so constructive and their desire to produce better looking dogs was so sincere that it was a pleasure to go over their exhibits.

There are some who maintain that a beagle doesn't have to be a good looking dog in order to run rabbits. The ideal is the dog that is a whiz-bang bunny-chaser and looks and sounds like a million while he's doing it.

To me the most important part of this business of looking for good conformation in a rabbit hound is structure that makes it possible for a dog to run well and long with a minimum of energy and fatigue. A good looking shoulder is one which is set on the body properly so that movement is free and in line with the motion of the dog.

If the shoulder is wrong, the dog crosses in front or paddles with loss of motion. If the shoulders are loaded (chest too broad and musculature too heavy) the action is stiff, the stride is shortened and the body may roll. A slant sided dog lacks lung and heart space. Too much spring of rib or barrel may effect the movement of the shoulders and forelegs.

A back that is too long or so constructed that the arch loin is not "tied in" from the withers of the hindquarters is a handicap to the dog. I could go on and on with reference to nearly every conformation fault a dog might have.

In the case of the club holding this bench show, the members had been breeding dogs for hunting purposes for many years. They suddenly realized that they had pretty good running dogs but too many funny looking specimens.

Bowl Picture Seems as Dim as Ever

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The mad scramble for the pot of gold and glory in the New Year's Day bowl game showed no signs of being settled in most cases today — and the prospects were that some would have to go to a faculty vote.

With only one more big Saturday to go for most college teams, only Oklahoma can sit back and watch the others tear at each other. The Sooners are assured of a spot in the Orange Bowl by virtue of winning the Big Seven championship for the sixth straight year. They've won 40 conference games in a row.

The chances are strong that they'll meet Maryland, which by all odds should win the newly formed Atlantic Coast Conference championship. Still, Duke, no shrinking violet, is tied with the Terps as now for first place in the league.

Rose Bowl — The Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference winners are pitted against each other, provided they haven't played the previous year. That eliminated Wisconsin and Southern California.

The Badgers threw a monkey wrench into Illinois' plans Saturday by throttling the Illini 34-7. If the Illini beat Northwestern Saturday, they'll wind up tied with Michigan State, which has finished its league season.

That would call for a faculty vote, in which case Illinois probably would get it since Michigan State is not in the best of graces with the Big Ten. In fact, they're on probation.

In the Pacific Coast half of the Rose Bowl, UCLA and Stanford are tied for the lead, each with a record of 5-1. This week Stanford plays California and UCLA tackles Southern California. If both contenders win, the league schools will vote for the host.

Cotton Bowl — The Southwest Conference winner acts as host in this one and the clearest word that can be used is "chaos." Texas has a 4-1 record with one to go while Baylor, Rice and Southern Methodist all show 3-1 records with two games each still on their schedules. (This could finish in a four-way tie, a situation that would give the Moguls a real voting problem.)

Sugar Bowl — Despite its loss to Notre Dame, Georgia Tech was the No. 1 candidate for one of the assignments — until it ran into a 13-0 defeat at the hands of Alabama Saturday. Now "Bama" could get the spot. The same could be said of West Virginia. The Mountaineers thought they had a good chance, what with a winning streak of 13 games. But South Carolina stopped them 20-14.

It looks like things won't be settled until all the returns are in. Meanwhile, Notre Dame continued to make the experts look good. The Irish, voted the No. 1 team in the pre-season Associated Press polls of sports writers and sports-casters have been at the top ever since and now boast the longest winning streak in the country — nine, including a 34-14 triumph over North Carolina Saturday.

Notre Dame still has three games to go — against Iowa, Southern California and Southern Methodist. Maryland, the only other major unbeaten, faces only Alabama, one of its conquerors of last season. Until Saturday, both Illinois and West Virginia had been members of the select circle of major unbeatens.

For a time, the experts feared that Maryland was not quite the

Upsets Hinder Cotton Bowl Selection

By HAROLD V. RATLIFE

DALLAS (AP) — The Cotton Bowl selection committee will be watching a half-dozen games Saturday in making its decision on which team is to be invited for the New Year's Day football show in Dallas.

The visiting school for the Cotton Bowl will be revealed probably Sunday but not before that, Leonard Green, chairman of the selection committee, said today.

He admitted the committee was perplexed over the upsets and fluctuating records of the available teams but said the same seven eligibles that had been under consideration from the start remained. They are Alabama, Auburn, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Mississippi, West Virginia and Tennessee.

Obviously Mississippi lost ground in its bid last week when it was beaten 38-0 by Maryland, and West Virginia's chances were hurt when it lost its first game of the season to South Carolina, 20-14. But, Green pointed out that South Carolina has a good football team too.

Alabama plays Maryland, Auburn clashes with Clemson, Kentucky meets Tennessee, Georgia Tech plays Duke and West Virginia has North Carolina State. Kentucky and West Virginia are close.

team it was built up to be. But Jim Tatum's Terps pulled out all stoppers when they crushed a solid Mississippi team 38-0. That score will give Alabama cause to worry.

Even the staid old Ivy League is faced with difficulties. Should Penn defeat Cornell on Thanksgiving Day in Philadelphia — a task which should not be too difficult for the Quakers — it will win the league title.

But its record will be 1-0! Cornell is Penn's only Ivy League opponent and at the moment they are the only two schools undefeated in league play. If Cornell wins, there won't be any problem. Otherwise, the decision may be placed in the lap of East Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern College League, since the Ivy League is not a formal league and therefore has no one to give orders.

ing the season and good showings side track. Alabama and Auburn play each other Nov. 28. Tech still have Georgia, Mississippi will still have Mississippi State and Tennessee will still have Vanderbilt and University of Houston.

There's not an unbeaten team in the lot. West Virginia has the best record (7-1) and Auburn second best (6-1-1), while Alabama has 5-1-3. Green observed that an Alabama victory over Maryland would make that team red hot.

own solution tried out — which is to give every child at least one wise-hearted parent, and that old-fashioned back yard in which to grow up.

All children, like all adults, are yearning, would-be angels torn by devilish urges. All children, like all adults, want and need discipline as well as freedom in their lives. All children, like all adults, must find a balanced compromise between their cravings for both responsibility and liberty to lead a happy life.

The trouble with a modern, so-called school playground is that it is often too supervised and paved like a city street.

A child is an animal who likes the feel of grass and ground under his feet, a place to play where someone he loves keeps an eye on him but still leaves him free to be the pirate or Marco Polo of his dreams. And what fills this pre-fabricated better than the old-fashioned back yard?

It should have a garden in summer and space to raise pets, the child can love and feel superior to because they depend on him. It should have trees he can climb and discover a brave new world. It should be wide enough for a snowball battle in winter.

Let there be a woodshed, and let it echo now and then, when necessary, with the measured sound of a razor strap applied in justice, not in anger, but also let the woodshed be the clubhouse for one of those secret societies which boys form because they already want to belong to something bigger and more important than themselves. These are the birthplaces of patriotism.

In a big back yard a child can learn most of the lessons he needs, and still run into mama's comforting arms if he gets hurt in a tumble or a squabble. Where else can a child better enjoy both freedom and safety?

The folly of our growing cities is that we are crowding little box-like homes closer together, and the yards are so small a kid can't open his stamp album in one without brushing it against the house next door.

Maybe this is all sentimentality. But none of the kids I played with in the big, old-fashioned back yards of my youth ever went to reform school or wound up in prison. None yet has found life a dead-end street.

Ike Takes on Plan to Unify Republicans

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opening the kind of umbrella under which all the Republicans will want to take cover calls for a magician. President Eisenhower has assigned himself the job in 1954.

He hopes to develop a program, he said recently, which will serve as a real umbrella under which his party's candidates can operate in the 1954 election year, dynamic foundation, he called it.

Just that is his program for 1954? After almost a year in office there are parts of it which he probably doesn't know himself yet. On taxes, foreign trade, agriculture, for instance.

In 1953 he created a batch of commissions to help him put together a program he could present to Congress. Only those dealing with housing and farming may report by the time Congress returns in January.

He's in trouble with some of his own Republicans if he suggests a farm program radically different from the present one. Some Republicans will fight him fiercely if he suggests raising taxes.

If by any change his foreign trade commission should recommend lower tariffs, he is in trouble with those Republicans who consistently want higher ones.

In short, he may find his umbrella not big enough. Former President Truman had the same trouble with his Democrats.

The time is rapidly approaching when he must make recommendations to Congress. Republican leaders of Congress have been called to the White House Dec. 10-12 to talk over the program.

By the end of 1954, Eisenhower will have been president almost two years, which should be long enough for any administration to show what it can do. Here are some of the promises, and the performance, to date:

At home—
He promised to reduce government spending. The administration and Congress cut 13 billion dollars off the budget estimate of President Truman. Eisenhower dropped wage and price controls and promised to check inflation.

Living costs have continued to rise and are at a peak.

He talked of balancing the budget. Aides now say it may not be possible before July 1, 1955. He talked of reducing the public debt, which was at 265 billion dollars when he took office. It's now almost at the legal limit of 275 billion and when Congress returns he may ask it to permit the government to go further into debt by raising the limit.

He promised to work toward the "earliest possible solution of the tax burden." Tax cuts scheduled to go into effect Jan. 1 were agreed upon by Congress before Eisenhower took office. In fact, he may ask Congress for some kind of tax increase, as he did ask for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax.

He made elimination of the budget deficit "the first order of business." Next year it may be eight or nine billions. He promised to "proceed promptly" to amend the Taft-Hartley labor law. Nothing done on this and Martin P. Durkin quit as secretary of labor in disagreement over procedure.

Eisenhower promised a new farm program. It may be unveiled early in 1954. He has urged that social security coverage be extended to 10 1/2 million more people and seems sure to recommend this next year.

He made good on his promise of a new loyalty program to get rid of security risks in the government. He promised a review of the government tax structure and set up a study group for that. With congressional approval he reorganized a number of government departments and set up a commission to study further improvements.

He promised statehood for Hawaii. The House approved, but the bill got snarled up in the Senate, which may act next year.

Foreign—
He promised to work for the end of the Korean War. It ended, but in an uneasy truce. He urged greater unification in Western Europe. Western Europe still hasn't set up the single European army.

He promised to help this country's allies. He pushed foreign aid through Congress, although less than he asked, boosted help for the French in Indochina, strengthened the armed forces in South Korea, gave free food to the East Germans.

Peace with Russia appears no nearer.

111-Year-Old Wants to Go Foxhunting

FRANKLIN, Tex., Nov. 15 — Now that the first about his 111th birthday is over, Walter W. Williams, oldest of the nation's fox-hunting club, wants to go fox hunting.

Williams, a wrinkled little man, was chapter at his birthday party yesterday. He sat on the porch of the weather-beaten old farm home where he lives with his 79-year-old wife and pointed as the yard filled with children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Williams couldn't blow out all the candles but happily ate a piece of the four-tiered cake.

He joined the Confederates when he was 22 and became a forage master for Hood's Texas Brigade. His advice to younger men: "If more of you would get along with your wives better you'll live a lot longer."

New York to Take Up the Wicks Case

By JOHN L. CONSIDINE

ALBANY, N. Y., (UP) — The New York State Legislature meets in special session tomorrow to consider the first real challenge in more than a decade to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's statewide political power.

The two-time presidential candidate, who is considered to wield more influence on the national political scene than any other man outside of Washington has demanded the resignation of his long-time ally and "acting lieutenant governor" — Sen. Arthur H. Wicks.

Wicks defied him and refused. He defied the Republican state executive committee which unanimously voted to back Dewey. Only the legislature has the power to oust Wicks and tomorrow it will undertake to decide the issue.

Political observers believe Dewey will come on top. Whatever the outcome, Dewey has sworn not to leave the state as long as Wicks is in office because the senator's position puts him in line to act for Dewey when he is absent or if the governorship becomes vacant.

Buyers of Reynolds' Book to Get Refund

NEW YORK, (UP) — The 10,000 persons who purchased Quentin Reynolds' latest spy thriller, "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," may get their money back — if they want it.

Bernard A. Cerf, president of Random House, publishers of the "Biography" of Canadian World War II "spy" George Dupre, said both he and Reynolds were victims of a hoax.

"It probably would be renamed 'The Man Who Talked Too Much,'" Cerf said.

He said Random House will start making the $2.75 per volume refund today to purchasers who want their money back. He also plans to reclassify the book as fiction.

Reynolds, who wrote the book on assignment, said he discovered Saturday the story was purely the product of Dupre's imagination.

The book recounts the experiences of Dupre, a 32-year-old Boy Scout leader, as a Canadian espionage agent in France, according to a village idiot by day and engaged in sabotage during the night. Dupre, in a state of collapse at his Calgary, Alta., home, admitted the story was untrue.

"Brassard" which now refers to a badge on the upper arm originally meant a piece of armor for the upper arm.
